

4 Customer Communication

4.1 Customer Receipts

Each recurring transaction should send a customer receipt using the existing receipt notification system informing them that the transaction has been taken (if enabled on the account and the base transaction contained an e-mail address). In addition to the normal information the receipt it includes the policy reference number rather than the normal order reference.